2. Virtual Demo

- We need descriptions of ourselves on the landing page: Let's aim to have it done this week

3.3 The Team

> Ensure that there are ways in which people can contact you. They need to be able to ask questions for evaluation purposes.

You should have a photo of the team linking faces to the names of the members of the team. You should have the basic information about the members of the team readily available on the landing page — i.e. without linking to other places. Visitors to your landing page may be interested in your current position, interests, skills, previous work experiences, and attitudes. You may provide additional links to support your claims. Your skills can for example be confirmed by qualifications and by endorsements on your LinkedIn profile. You may for example showcase your working pattens observed in terms of involvement in projects and commits over time shown in your gitHib profile.
